2 Your super benefit

Your super benefit is the amount of money you are entitled to receive from your super fund. Your Division 2 benefit is calculated taking into consideration a range of factors including your reason for leaving the Qantas Group, your age, salary, contributions and years of service at the time your benefit is determined.

Types of super benefit

Depending on your circumstances, you may be entitled to one of the following benefits:

Vested Benefits:

- Retirement Benefit;
- Early Retirement Benefit (including in the case of retrenchment);
- Late Retirement Benefit;
- Resignation Benefit (including in the case of summary dismissal); or
- Serious Ill Health Benefit.

Insured Benefits:

- Death (including Terminal Illness) Benefit;
- Total and Permanent Disablement (TPD) Benefit; or
- Disability Benefit (in the case of total but temporary disablement).

Vested Benefits are subject to a minimum equal to the Minimum Requisite Benefit (MRB) amount for the period up to your Superannuation Date. After this date, they are subject to a legislated Superannuation Guarantee (SG) Minimum requirement. The MRB is the minimum benefit needed to be paid to ensure that the Qantas Group meets its SG requirements. The Plan Benefit Certificate details how the MRB is calculated. Contact the Qantas Super Helpline if you'd like a copy of the Plan Benefit Certificate.

Your Death Benefit is subject to a Minimum Death Benefit (MDB) requirement. The MDB equals the MRB plus a minimum legislated death benefit. Refer to the Information Booklet Supplement for more information.

Refer to the 'How we invest your money' section of the Information Booklet Supplement for more information.

Accessing your super benefit

All super accumulated after 30 June 1999 is subject to preservation. This includes any investment earnings credited to your super. The preservation rules, set out below, do not apply to any non-preserved super which had accrued before 1 July 1999.

Generally, you can only access the preserved portion of your super in cash when you permanently retire from the workforce after reaching your preservation age (between age 55 and 60 depending on your date of birth).

You may also be able to access your super in certain other circumstances such as if you become totally and permanently disabled or to start a transition to retirement account after reaching your preservation age. If you die, a death benefit will be payable to your beneficiaries. Please refer to the Information Booklet Supplement for information about nominating a beneficiary, including the different types of nominations and the conditions that apply.

If you resign or are retrenched from the Qantas Group, then the preserved component of your benefit will need to be transferred to another division of Qantas Super or to another complying super fund. You will generally be able to access any non-preserved components of your benefit in cash.

Please refer to the Information Booklet Supplement for more information about when you can access your super, including details of the tax, if any, that may be payable.

4 How to calculate your super benefit

Calculating your Vested Benefit

The following table outlines the different types of vested benefits and how they are calculated. For details on when you can access these benefits as cash, refer to 'Accessing your super benefit' in the 'Your super benefit' section.

Note: If you were a former contributory member of AAGSP or AAFASS, your vested benefit is subject to a minimum benefit guarantee (except in the case of summary dismissal).

Benefit type	Amount
Retirement Benefit / Early Retirement Benefit If you retire upon reaching your Retirement Date (or may be payable if you leave the Qantas Group, prior to retirement, due to retrenchment).	This is a lump sum benefit equal to your: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ■ Accrued Retirement Benefit; plus ■ AAGSP Prior Service Shortfall Amount (if any); plus ■ Supplementary Benefit.

Example

Tom, a Category A member who joined the Qantas Group in 1990, retires at age 60 after 25 years of Credited Service. His FAS is $60,000 and he has the following balances:

Member Account $50,000, Company Account $50,000, Salary Sacrifice Account $50,000 and Rollover Account $50,000. He has a $0 balance in all other accounts.

Accrued Retirement Benefit

$$= 9.3\% \times $60,000 \times 25 = $139,500$$

Supplementary Benefit = $200,000

Tom's Retirement Benefit is:

Accrued Retirement Benefit	$139,500
plus Supplementary Benefit	$200,000
Total benefit	$339,500

Benefit type	Amount
Late Retirement Benefit If you retire after your Superannuation Date.	This is a lump sum benefit equal to your: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ■ Retirement Benefit (as at your Superannuation Date); plus ■ Additional contributions (net of tax) made after your Superannuation Date, to your accounts that make up your Supplementary Benefit; plus ■ Additional interest (at the applicable Credited Interest Rates), credited after your Superannuation Date.

Example

Using the above example, let's assume Tom retires instead at Retirement Benefit age 65 (five years past his Superannuation Date). His Retirement Benefit (as calculated above, at his Superannuation Date) is $339,500.

Additional contributions (net of contributions tax) made to Tom's account following his Superannuation Date = $52,500, calculated as:

- SG Contributions of $50,000; plus

- Member Voluntary Contributions of $10,000; less
 - Contributions tax (on the SG Contributions) of $3,000.
- Additional interest of $3,000 is credited to Tom's account.

Tom's Late Retirement Benefit is:

Retirement Benefit	$339,500
plus Additional contributions	$52,500
plus Additional interest	$3,000
Total benefit	$395,000

4 How to calculate your super benefit continued

Benefit type	Amount
Resignation Benefit If you leave the Qantas Group prior to your Superannuation Date for reasons other than retirement, retrenchment, death, disablement or serious ill-health.	This is a lump sum benefit equal to your: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ■ Accrued Retirement Benefit (adjusted by the Discount Factor and the Vesting Factor); plus ■ AAGSP Prior Service Shortfall Amount (if any); plus ■ Supplementary Benefit (with the Company Account adjusted by the Vesting Factor). Note: If resignation is the result of a summary dismissal, the benefit paid will equal the Supplementary Benefit minus the Company Account.

Example

George, a Category B member who joined the Qantas Group in 1992, resigns at age 40 (15 years before his 55th birthday) after 12 years of Credited Service. He has a FAS of $50,000 and the following account balances:

Member Account $30,000, Company Account $12,000, Productivity Account $18,000, Member Extra Account $5,000 and Surcharge Account ($1,000). He has a $0 balance in all other accounts.

Discount Factor = George's Accrued Retirement Benefit is discounted by 15% (1% for each of the 15 years between the date he ceases employment with Qantas Group and his 55th birthday).

Vesting Factor = His vesting factor is 1. Therefore, no adjustment is required.

Accrued Retirement Benefit
 = $(9.3\% \times $50,000 \times 12)$, discounted by 15% = $47,430

Supplementary Benefit = $64,000

George's Resignation Benefit is:

Accrued Retirement Benefit; plus	$47,430
Supplementary Benefit.	$64,000
Total benefit	$111,430

Benefit type	Amount
Serious Ill Health Benefit If you leave the Qantas Group, prior to your Superannuation Date, due to serious ill health, as determined by the Trustee after consideration of medical evidence.	This is a lump sum benefit equal to your: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ■ Accrued Retirement Benefit (based on Credited Service up to the date of Serious Ill Health and adjusted by the Discount Factor) ; plus ■ AAGSP Prior Service Shortfall Amount (if any); plus ■ Supplementary Benefit.

Example

Using the above example, let's assume George ceases work due to serious ill-health. However, as no Vesting Factor applies to the Serious Ill Health Benefit and given George's Vesting Factor equals 1, the benefits will be the same. That is, using this example above, George's Resignation Benefit will be equal to his Serious Ill-Health Benefit.

Calculating your Insured Benefit

IMPORTANT NOTE: Your Disability Benefit, and a portion of your Death and Total and Permanent Disablement (TPD) Benefit which is above your relevant Vested Benefit, is known as Standard Insurance Cover. Standard Insurance Cover is provided through group policies with the Insurer and is subject to certain terms and conditions. These terms and conditions (including definitions that determine when an insurance benefit will be paid, how unpaid leave impacts your Standard Insurance Cover and how to make a claim) are detailed later in this section. It is important to remember that although an insurance benefit may be payable to the Trustee as the policy owner, you can only receive that insurance benefit if the preservation rules have been satisfied (see 'Accessing your super' in the 'Your super benefit' section for more information). If an insurance benefit is paid to the Trustee as the policy owner and it cannot be paid to you under the preservation rules, it will be held in your account until a preservation rule has been satisfied.

You can't reduce the amount of standard insurance you have (you were automatically provided with this cover when you joined Qantas Super). But you can increase your insurance by buying voluntary insurance for death and total and permanent disablement (TPD). For more information please read the Insurance Guide available on our website.

If you cease employment with the Qantas Group, your insurance benefits may continue in a retained division within Qantas Super. Refer to our website for more information.

Other income that reduces/offsets a TPD or Disability Benefit

- other income you are entitled to or receive for disability from employment under another insurance policy ,
- workers compensation payments, social security payments or other similar compensation payments under state, federal or common law, and
- monies paid in respect of any claim for past or future economic loss arising from any claim you make for personal injury.

Definitions for TPD and Disability

On 1 August 2014*, under new insurance policies with the Insurer (MLC), the following new definitions were introduced for TPD and Disability Benefits.

Total and Permanent Disablement (TPD) Benefit	TPD means a member having been absent from his or her Occupation solely through injury or Illness for a period of 3 consecutive months and incapacitated to such an extent that, in the Insurer's opinion, after consideration of medical and other relevant evidence, the member was, in the Relevant Period, unlikely to ever engage in or work for reward in any occupation for which he or she is reasonably suited by education, training or experience. 'Relevant Period' means: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ■ for a member whose employment with the Employer has terminated prior to the end of the period of the member being absent from employment for 3 consecutive months, the day on which the member was absent from employment for 3 consecutive months; or ■ for all other members, the period commencing at the end of the period of the member being absent from employment for 3 consecutive months and ending on the earlier of: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> – 12 consecutive months' absence from his or her Occupation solely through injury or Illness; or – the date of termination from employment with the Employer.
Disability Benefit (total but temporary disablement)	Total Disability or Totally Disabled means that, solely as a result of an injury or Illness, you are continuously: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ■ unable to perform at least one of the Important Duties of your Own Occupation, and ■ under the care of and following the regular and continuous advice for treatment from a Doctor in relation to that Illness or injury; and ■ not engaged in any occupation, paid or unpaid. Partial Disability or Partially Disabled means that immediately following at least 14 consecutive days of Total Disability and as a direct result of the injury or Illness which caused the Total Disability, you return to work in your own or another occupation and are: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ■ continuously unable to perform the Important Duties of your Own Occupation; ■ earning less than your Monthly Income prior to Total Disability; ■ under the continuous care and following the advice for treatment from a Doctor in relation to that Illness or injury.

* Prior to 1 August 2014, the Insured Benefits for Division 2 were wholly self-insured, this meant that whenever the Trustee paid an Insured Benefit to a member, the amount (including the amount above the Vested Benefit) was paid from Qantas Super's assets without being backed by an insurance policy.

These are terms defined in the Trustee's insurance policies with the Insurer. The Trustee may change insurer or policy terms at any time. The Trustee has arrangements in place with the Insurer and the Company from 1 August 2014 and ensure that members are not adversely impacted by the changes to the definitions.

Do these new definitions apply to me?

The new definitions for TPD and Disability Benefits apply for any claim you submit after 1 August 2014, except if:

- you were not at work on the last working day before 1 August 2014 due to illness or injury, and you have not returned to work¹ and you subsequently submit a TPD or Disability Benefit claim for an Illness/injury that first occurred or became apparent before 1 August 2014; or
- you were entitled to or are already receiving a TPD or Disability Benefit on 1 August 2014; or
- you lodged a claim for a TPD or Disability Benefit before 1 August 2014 and a final decision has not yet been made on that claim.

If the new definitions do not apply to you, the old definitions will continue to apply.

¹ Return to work means you are actively performing all the duties and work hours of your usual occupation with your employer, for 30 consecutive days, free of any limitation due to injury or Illness. During this period, you'll have Limited Cover. Refer to 'Limited Cover' in the 'Definitions' section.

How to make a claim

Death

Once we are advised of your death, we will send claim forms to the person advising us of the claim, or to anyone nominated as a possible beneficiary.

Terminal Illness, TPD and Disability

If you'd like to make a claim, you should notify us as soon as possible. We'll send you the relevant claim forms to complete and return. The Insurer will assess your claim and will liaise with you directly if additional information or medical evidence is required.

You'll be required to provide, at your own expense, reports from two treating doctors prepared using the forms we send you. The Insurer may also require you to undergo further medical assessment with a Doctor of its choice, at the Insurer's expense.

If you lodge a claim for Terminal Illness, TPD or Disability more than one year after the event giving rise to the claim and the delay results in the Insurer's interests being prejudiced, your claim may be declined or reduced.

When a decision has been made by the Insurer about your claim, you will be advised of the decision in writing.

If you don't understand the decision or would like further information, please contact us.

7 Definitions

In explaining how Qantas Super works, it is necessary to use certain terms which have a very specific meaning. These are defined below (or earlier in this document).

Accident means an event where bodily injury is caused directly and solely by external and visible means, independently of all other causes.

Additional Voluntary Cover You can apply to increase your death and Total and Permanent Disablement insurance cover to a level that you feel is right for you with our Additional Voluntary Cover. Please see the Insurance Guide, available on our website, for information about Additional Voluntary Cover, including how to apply. Conditions apply.

Benefit As a member of Division 2, you are automatically covered 24 hours a day, seven days a week for death, disablement and Terminal Illness until your Superannuation Date. This automatic cover is known as Standard Insurance Cover. Standard Insurance Cover is part of a package of benefits for members, so you are not able to decline, change or cancel the cover.
