

Media Release – for immediate release

ACSI welcomes new member Qantas Super

The Australian Council of Superannuation Investors (ACSI) is pleased to welcome Qantas Super as a new member. Qantas Super has more than $7 billion in funds under management on behalf of 32,000 members.

Qantas Super joins 35 other Australian and international members, including many profit-to-member superannuation funds, committed to enhancing the long-term value of the retirement savings entrusted to them by recognising the material risks and opportunities inherent in environmental, social and governance issues.

ACSI members own, on average, 11% of all ASX200 companies.

‘As active owners, ACSI seeks to influence listed companies through constructive engagement with their boards about material ESG issues, with the aim of promoting long-term shareholder value and minimising risk,’ said Louise Davidson, ACSI CEO. ‘We look forward to working with Qantas Super in that endeavour.’

Qantas Super’s Chief Investment Officer, Andrew Spence, said: ‘We’re excited to be partnering with ACSI as part of a range of active share ownership initiatives that are focused on creating long term sustainable growth for our members. We chose ACSI because of their depth of knowledge and capability, and their focus on driving better governance within Australian listed companies.’

‘As the caretaker of the financial future of our 32,000 members, we have a responsibility to act in their best interests, and adopting the ACSI guidelines will enable us to protect value for our members.’

Media Contacts:

Cath Sullivan, Executive Manager, Communications - ACSI: 0429 295789

Alethea Mouhtouris, Manager, Communications - Qantas Super: 0414 535 889

About Qantas Super

Qantas Super is one of Australia’s largest corporate superannuation funds and is run for the benefit of members who are current and former employees of Qantas Airways Limited and its associated companies.

Qantas Super has been operating since 1939 and has about 32,000 members and assets of more than $7 billion. For more information, visit www.qantassuper.com.au

About ACSI

The Australian Council of Superannuation Investors (ACSI) is a collaboration of Australian superannuation funds and international asset owners, bound together by their common interests as long-term investors in the capital markets. The focus of ACSI’s research, policy and representation is environmental, social and governance (ESG) investment risks and opportunities. ACSI has 30 Australian members, who collectively manage over $480 billion in assets on behalf of over eight million Australian superannuation fund members and retirees. ACSI also has six international members who are among the largest and most respected asset owners globally in terms of their approach to corporate governance. Together our members have funds under management of over $1.5 trillion.